Ozzie Smith to speak at Commencement June 14

On June 14, the greatest shortstop in the history of baseball will step up to the speaker's podium to deliver keynote addresses at Cal Poly's morning and afternoon commencement ceremonies.

Known in baseball as "The Wizard" for revolutionizing defensive play at shortstop while fielding for the San Diego Padres (1978-1981) and the St. Louis Cardinals (1982-1996), Osborne Earl "Ozzie" Smith, a Cal Poly alumnus, was the sole inductee in 2002 to the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Also widely known for his work with young people, Smith will be awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters at the June 14 afternoon commencement.

This will be only the 10th time an honorary doctorate has been granted by the university since its founding in 1901.

On June 13, a statue in Smith's honor will be unveiled at a 3:30 p.m. dedication of Ozzie Smith Plaza, located between Baggett Stadium and Bob Janssen Field.

A scholarship endowment for Cal Poly baseball is being created to honor Smith, with a limited number of statue miniatures available for donors.

"The Ozzie Smith Plaza and the statue are in recognition of Ozzie's many contributions to his sport and for being an outstanding role model for young athletes and the country's youth," said Cal Poly Athletic Director John McCutcheon.

For more about Smith and related events, see the May 14 Cal Poly Report online at <http://calpolynews.calpoly.edu/cpreport/reportindex.html>. □

Two more finalists to be interviewed for dean post

Candidates for the position of dean of the College of Architecture and Environmental Design have been invited to campus.

R. Thomas Jones, executive director of the California Futures Network, will be on campus Monday and Tuesday (May 19-20), and an open forum has been scheduled for 10:30 a.m. to noon Tuesday.

Charles J. Kibert, director, M.E. Rinker Sr. School of Building Construction, University of Florida, Gainesville, will be on campus May 27-28. An open forum has been set for 10:30 a.m. to noon May 27.

Both forums, to be in the Smith Alumni and Conference Center, provide the campus community an opportunity to meet the candidates and hear short presentations. □

Health, Counseling Services achieves accreditation

Health and Counseling Services has achieved national accreditation by the Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care.

For details, see the May 14 Cal Poly Report online at <http://calpolynews.calpoly.edu/cpreport/reportindex.html>. □

Two receptions set

Two longtime employees are retiring and receptions are planned in their honor:

Bonnie Krupp is retiring as deputy director of institutional planning and analysis, and an open house is set for 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday (May 15) in Adm. 311. Krupp will retire on Friday (May 16) after 14 years of service, including stints in Payroll and Academic Records. The campus community is invited to stop by for refreshments and to wish her well. □

Richard Equinoa, director of career services and testing services, is retiring in June, and an afternoon reception is planned for May 30. The faculty, staff, students and members of the community are invited to join in recognizing Equinoa's many contributions, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the Student Services Building plaza. For more information, call Shel Burrell, ext. 6-5974.

Naretto reception reminder

Ed Naretto is retiring as director of facility services and an open house in his honor is set for 2 to 4 p.m. Friday (May 16). The reception will be in the front office of the Facility Services Building. The campus community is invited to stop by. □

Israeli professor to talk on Israeli peace process

David Meir Levi, an American-born Israeli who has taught ancient Near Eastern history and archaeology at the Hebrew University and University of Tel Aviv, will speak on the Arab-Israeli peace process from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday (May 19).

His talk, in Philips Hall in the Christopher Cohan Center, is titled "From Oslo to Jenin: From Peace Process to Intifada II."

For more information, call ext. 6-2706 or visit the Web site at http://cla.calpoly.edu/cla/news/middle_east.html. □

Nominations sought

The Courtney Elizabeth Smyth Memorial Scholarship Committee is seeking nominations for a $2,000 scholarship to recognize a truly exceptional student "who has overcome personal tragedies, adversity and hardship, all of which suggest an inner strength in their commitment to maintain academic progress."

For eligibility requirements and nomination procedures, see the May 14 Cal Poly Report online at <http://calpolynews.calpoly.edu/cpreport/reportindex.html> or call Stephan Lamb at ext. 6-6509. □

Cal Poly 'portal,' creators earn international credit

Cal Poly's "MyCalPoly" "portal" project received international recognition at the Pan-European Portals Conference at the University of Geneva, Switzerland, in April. The award cited the university's experience in engineering and launching the program.

Cal Poly Web strategist Chris Stavros was singled out for bringing a "thorough engineering perspective to the development of the MyCalPoly portal." Log on to the MyCalPoly portal at <http://my.calpoly.edu>. □

Cal Poly Report schedule

The Cal Poly Report Digest and the Cal Poly Report online appear every Wednesday during the academic year. The online version can be seen at www.calpoly.edu/~communic. Articles for both versions are due to Public Affairs by 10 a.m. Wednesday, one week before publication. Articles can be e-mailed to polynews@polymail.calpoly.edu or faxed to ext. 6-6533.
